

Jake Neeley

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR OF THE MALOUF FOUNDATION™

Jake Neeley is the executive director of the Malouf Foundation™—a leading organization dedicated to confronting sexual exploitation, specifically sex trafficking and online abuse. Jake oversees the strategic development and general management of the foundation, focusing on program creation, marketing communications, and donor engagement. With more than 12 years of experience in marketing communications and philanthropy, Jake leverages his expertise to create sustainable strategies that create lasting social impact. He has educated thousands on the signs of sex trafficking and has developed unique program opportunities for businesses and communities to join the fight. Passionate about making a difference, he enjoys working with survivor advocates, industry professionals, and community leaders to drive impactful change through the foundation. In recognition of his leadership and contributions, Jake was honored as a 40 Under 40 Award recipient by Utah Business in 2022.